

THE GOERDELER CASE.

The Detention of an American Citizen in a German Asylum.

HE CHALLENGED THE EMPEROR

And is Now Confined as Insane—Evidence that He is of Sound Mind. The Brave Fight Being Made by His Wife to Interest This Government—Goerdeler's Brother Said to Stand in the Way of His Release. An "Investigation" that Did Not Investigate.

New York, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Richard Goerdeler, of this city, makes the following statement in regard to the case of her husband, an American citizen, who is held in confinement in Germany as a lunatic and idiot:

"In July, 1891, Mr. Goerdeler arrived in Germany, where he had gone to institute criminal proceedings against his younger brother, Judge Goerdeler, of Marienwerder, who he alleged had cheated him of his patrimony. After having visited several cities in Germany, Mr. Goerdeler went to his former home, Marienwerder. He was met at the railway station by his younger brother, who greeted him with these words: 'I arrest you in the name of his Majesty the Emperor of Germany, for the crime of lese-majeste.' Thereupon he pushed him back into the railway carriage, where two ruffians, armed with clubs, took charge of Mr. Goerdeler and conveyed him to the state lunatic asylum at Schweitz, West Prussia, where he has remained ever since. He was not given a trial or a hearing on the alleged charge; he was simply locked up, and his brother pays for his safe keeping in said institution.

"I have made unceasing efforts to bring about the release of my husband, but quite in vain. The American minister, Hon. W. W. Phelps, at Berlin, has not even during more than nine months thought it worth his while to send one of his men to the asylum to ascertain Mr. Goerdeler's mental condition, and yet, on the strength of a report written by the director of the insane asylum, a person who profits by the inmates of that institution, Minister Phelps has testified to Mr. Goerdeler's 'hopeless lunacy.' Judge Goerdeler, who has considerable influence in the province of West Prussia, seeing that he could have it all his own way and need not fear any interference from the American representative, has now succeeded in having this citizen of the United States put under guardianship for alleged 'idiotcy.' Meanwhile I have received a great many letters from my husband during his confinement, which are proof positive that the writer is not an 'idiot,' but an uncommonly gifted man, who has not lost his mental faculties since he left home.

"Mr. Goerdeler always provided well for his family, and it was a great grievance to him to know that they were unprotected. So he turned his talents to account by writing musical compositions, which I have been able to sell to his publishers and which are conceded to be very good. Thus an alleged 'idiot' has been contributing to the support of his family by brain-work."

Mrs. Goerdeler claims that her husband was prevented by trickery from seeking justice in the German courts.

The following statement of the case is obtained from Washington:

"John DeWitt Warner took up the case of Mrs. Goerdeler some time ago and ascertained the position of the state department. It appears that Mr. Goerdeler went to Germany for the purpose of challenging the German emperor to a duel. His action and words were such as to lead the authorities to believe him insane, and they charitably took this view and put him into an asylum instead of punishing him for disrespect of his majesty. Our state department inquired into the case carefully, and corresponded with the German government, but it was one of those cases governed by local law, which could not be made the subject of diplomacy. The German authorities, however, have made themselves ready at any time to turn Mr. Goerdeler over to the American minister, to be sent home under proper custody, but they do not consider that Mrs. Goerdeler would be the proper custodian. They also required that one of the physicians connected with the asylum where he is confined should accompany him till he sails, as a precautionary measure; and our government has held itself ready to see to his proper transportation to this country as soon as the expenses of the trip could be guaranteed. Mrs. Goerdeler does not seem to grasp the legal phases of the situation."

Mrs. Goerdeler, on reading this statement from Washington, said that her husband was the victim of a strange notion that through the action of his brother, an imperial judge, he had been wronged by the emperor, and had a right to demand satisfaction from him. "My husband did not go to Germany to challenge the emperor," explained Mrs. Goerdeler. "The deplorable incident referred to which was due to a moment of anger on the part of my husband, happened three months before he left America. The challenge was sent by letter, not to the emperor, but to the student corps at Halle, of which my husband was a member, to be transmitted to the corps to which the emperor formerly belonged. It was based on my husband's ideas that he had been wronged by the emperor's officials and that he was privileged to demand such satisfaction from the emperor, a former member of another corps, under the rules governing all German student corps. Can an American citizen be punished in Germany for an offense committed in America? The dispatch says the 'authorities' were led to believe my husband insane. The sole 'authority' in the case which Mr. Goerdeler received an opportunity to meet was his own brother, who abused his official position to arrest my husband without a warrant. As to the German authorities not considering me a proper custodian of my husband, in their official communication to the state department, a copy of which has been forwarded to me, it is stated frankly that the reason I am not considered a proper custodian is that I share the opinion of my husband regarding the injustice done him, and also because I would not hinder him in carrying out his plan of going to Marienwerder and Berlin to appeal to the highest tribunals of law there. As for what the Washington authorities say about no expenses for the return trip being guaranteed, I only wish to point to the fact that Mr. Goerdeler's relatives who placed him in the insane asylum, have officially stated that they do not wish Mr. Goerdeler to return to America, and that they refuse to meet the expenses which would be occasioned thereby, but that, on the other hand, they are willing to defray permanently the expenses incident to his sojourn at the asylum."

MARTIN'S FERRY.

News Notes and Personalities from Our Near Neighbor.

At Martin's Ferry Washington's birthday was very generally observed. Business was partially suspended, the public schools gave an entertainment at the Opera House in the morning, and the Grocers' Association gave a big banquet, the "Y's" received the young men at the Y. M. C. A., the Junior Mechanics danced at the Meenorchor Hall and there were several social gatherings, all in the evening. The Opera House was crowded to hear the entertainment given by the Martin's Ferry schools. The scholars and their teachers and principals marched from their respective buildings, headed by a drum corps. Nearly every pupil carried a flag. The stage was nicely decorated with national colors and portraits of Washington. On it sat the high school pupils, the superintendent, teachers, citizens and others. Miss Blanch Gillespie presided at the piano, and the entertainment was very enjoyable. The following programme was carried out: Prayer by Rev. A. E. Brounlee; John Pratt, aged six, recitation; Nettie Williams, recitation, "Rymes of a Nutshell"; Lena Elbert, recitation, George Washington's singing of "Washington's Birthday"; Grace Boyd, recitation; May Pinkerton and Robert Davis, dialogue, "Mr. and Mrs. Nineteenth Century"; Walter McManister, recitation, "The Time of Washington"; Ralph Young, recitation, "St. Jonathan"; song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic"; May Gibson, recitation, "Our Country's Flag"; superintendent, talk on the life of Washington; song by high school; Miss Martin, recitation, "A Piece of Bunting"; Miss Mary Thomas, reading "Washington's Funeral Oration"; song, "Mount Vernon Bells"; by A. and B. grammar and high school; benediction by Rev. Mr. Brounlee.

A large number of Juniors from Steubenville, Wheeling and other places attended the ball of Hiawatha council at Maenorchor hall. The hall was tastefully decorated with stars and stripes.

The grocers were out in force with their wives, daughters and sweethearts last night at the annual banquet of the Grocers' Association, of Martin's Ferry. This was the largest and most successful in the history of the organization. Nearly two hundred attended. The affair was very enjoyable, and reflected great credit on the committee in charge, consisting of Messrs. J. B. Montgomery, Theo. P. Keller, W. T. Barrett, Louis Scheele, Clem McCabe and W. H. Heffernan. The attendance was not confined to Martin's Ferry people by any means. A few Wheeling wholesalers were well represented. The entertainment was held in the K. of P. hall, which was well filled, and the supper was served at the Bayless opera house. The exercises at the hall lasted two hours, and the programme was an excellent one. All of those who took part were well applauded. The opening address was delivered by Mr. J. E. Mannix, followed by music by the Venerable band, of Wheeling; singing by the Buckeye Quartette; recitation by Roger Jones; solo by Miss Dora Eick; phonograph selection; recitation by Miss Mary McDonald; music by Venerable band; phonograph selection; music by Venerable band; singing by Buckeye Quartette; phonograph selection; recitation by Mr. Harry Woodcock, of Bridgeport; singing by young ladies' quartette, consisting of Misses May O'Connell, Julia McDonough, Gertrude McCabe; recitation by Henry Gauding; phonograph; recitation by Mr. W. L. Brown; music by Venerable band; closing address by Mr. J. C. Gray. This over the entire party repaired to the Bayless House, near by, where an elegant five-course turkey supper was in waiting, and two hours were spent in discussing it. Like the entertainment, this was enjoyed by all those present, and everybody went home highly pleased with the way the evening had been spent. This was the event of the season.

Some time Tuesday night or yesterday morning thieves entered the ticket office at the Terminal depot, but must have been frightened away, as papers were scattered all over the floor. Nothing was missing, not even a large gold ring belonging to Mr. A. B. Gilmore, the agent. There were not over ten pennies in the office as money is never left there at night. Entrance was effected by prying up the window, pulling out the strips and pushing the window in.

The reception given by the "Y's" to the young men at the Y. M. C. A. from 8 to 10 p. m. was well attended and enjoyed. There was an interesting programme of music and recitations and the young ladies served light refreshments. The boys with the "Y's" would give these refreshments frequently.

BELLAIRE.

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

The American Mechanics had a very creditable parade yesterday, the lodges from Bridgeport, Minerva, Benwood and other places joining in the procession in the afternoon. The line was about two squares in length, marching by twos, and was headed by Chief Marshal J. W. Jones, Assistant M. List, and Aides E. B. Heuthorn and Samuel Leach. None of the other societies marched, but this patriotic organization, headed by the Mechanics' brass band, covered the route as published yesterday, all wearing the regalia or badge of the order, and the old flag was a conspicuous figure. The parade lasted about two hours, when they returned to the Elysian theater. It was well filled with people and the band rendered several patriotic tunes until all were seated, when Rev. D. W. Chandler offered prayer, and this was followed by singing by the order. Miss Edith Thompson gave a recitation in an entertaining way and the Crystal quartette contributed a splendid song, that was heartily enjoyed. In the absence of Hon. C. L. Weems, who was to have delivered an address on the principles of the order, Dr. A. Porterfield performed that duty. A solo was rendered by Miss Laura Sellers, and a recitation by Miss Elsa Lazure, more singing by the Crystal quartette and then came the address on Washington, by Rev. D. W. Chandler. It was a splendid delineation of the life and character of the pioneer President, whose birth was so fittingly commemorated in the exercises of the day, and was received with the greatest satisfaction by the large audience. The band gave more music and the exercises of the day were at an end. The whole town had a holiday appearance and bright colors floated from many houses, but the most conspicuous flag was the one flying from the handsome pole in the public park. This pole is 102 feet in length and as straight as an arrow. It was admired by everybody.

Messrs. A. R. Leyda, of Beaver Falls, Pa., J. K. Jolly and J. E. Timms, of Pittsburgh, were the electric street railway men who appeared before Coffey here and wanted a franchise for two years with the privilege of changing from a horse car line to an electric railway. They were chaperoned by Fred Kodewitz, Sr., who has been superintendent of the present line since J. Felix, of Boston, has had charge. Mr. Felix has lost over a thousand dollars by the operation of the line the past year, but that he paid his bills and kept the cars running, and now the councilmen are inquiring why an eastern man will pay out of his pocket a thousand a year for the privilege of running such a road as has been operated here.

Roger Cauley, the section man struck by the St. Clairsville train on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad Tuesday afternoon, died that night of his injuries.
